Lesson 1 Objectives

Using a primary source document from Klemens von Metternich, identify key differences between Conservatives and Liberals in the 19th Century

Evaluate the causes of various uprisings across Europe and identify their successes and failures

Describe geographic changes in Europe from 1814 to 1849

Goals of Liberals and Conservatives

LIBERALS	CONSERVATIVES
Ideas appealed to middle class of educated business people and professionals.	Ideas appealed to royalty, nobility, church leaders, and uneducated peasants.
GOALS: - Governments based on written constitutions - Separation of powers - Natural rights of individuals (liberty, equality, and property) - Republican form of government - Laissezfaire economics - Revolution, if necessary, to achieve goals	GOALS: - Royal families on their thrones - Traditional social hierarchy - Authority of established churches - Respect and obedience to authority - Stability and order - Suppression of revolutions

EUROPE IN 1815

- Monaco Newly created or restored states after the Congress of Vienna
- Territorial acquisitions and reacquisitions in brighter colors
- Boundary of German Confederation
- German small states
- Military Frontier against the Ottomans

Rebellions and Revolutions Begin

- Serbia is the first to gain “independence” (1804-1817) against the Ottoman Empire
 - Full independence - 1878
- Greece overthrows the Ottomans in 1830
 - Conservatives in France, England, and Russia wanted to install their own king
- Belgian overthrow the Dutch in 1830
 - Religious tensions and lack of government representation and support
 - Saw France’s successes and wanted to copy that
- Spain, Portugal, and several Italian states had internal minor crises

Rebellions and Revolutions Begin

Louis Philippe

- In France, Louis XVIII tried to establish a constitutional government based on the Charter of French Liberties (~1814)
 - Established by the Congress of Vienna
 - Resistance from both sides
- Charles X, Louis XVIII's younger brother, claimed absolute rule (1824)
 - Abdicates and leaves for England (July 1830)
- Louis Philippe, a cousin of Charles, is named "Citizen King" (1830)
 - Supported the 1789 Revolution

Rebellions and Revolutions Erupt

- France is boiling by the 1840s
 - Industrial Revolution and corruption
 - Recession occurs
 - Factories close and there's a food shortage
- February 1848, Louis Philippe cracks down on protestors and enacts violence on citizens
 - Abdicates weeks later

Rebellions and Revolutions Erupt

- 2nd Republic is established (1st was Napoleon)
 - Upper and Middle classes
 - Protests in the “June Days” (1848) are crushed with violence
 - Close national workshops that pay minimum wages to poor and unemployed
 - 1,500 lower class French citizens are killed
- Second Republic, led by the National Assembly, appoints Louis Napoleon as President (Dec 1848)
 - Attempts to reform government
 - Dissolves National Assembly in a “coup” and becomes Emperor Napoleon III (Dec 1851)
 - France is safe for a time

“When France
sneezes, Europe catches a cold”

EUROPE IN 1848-49

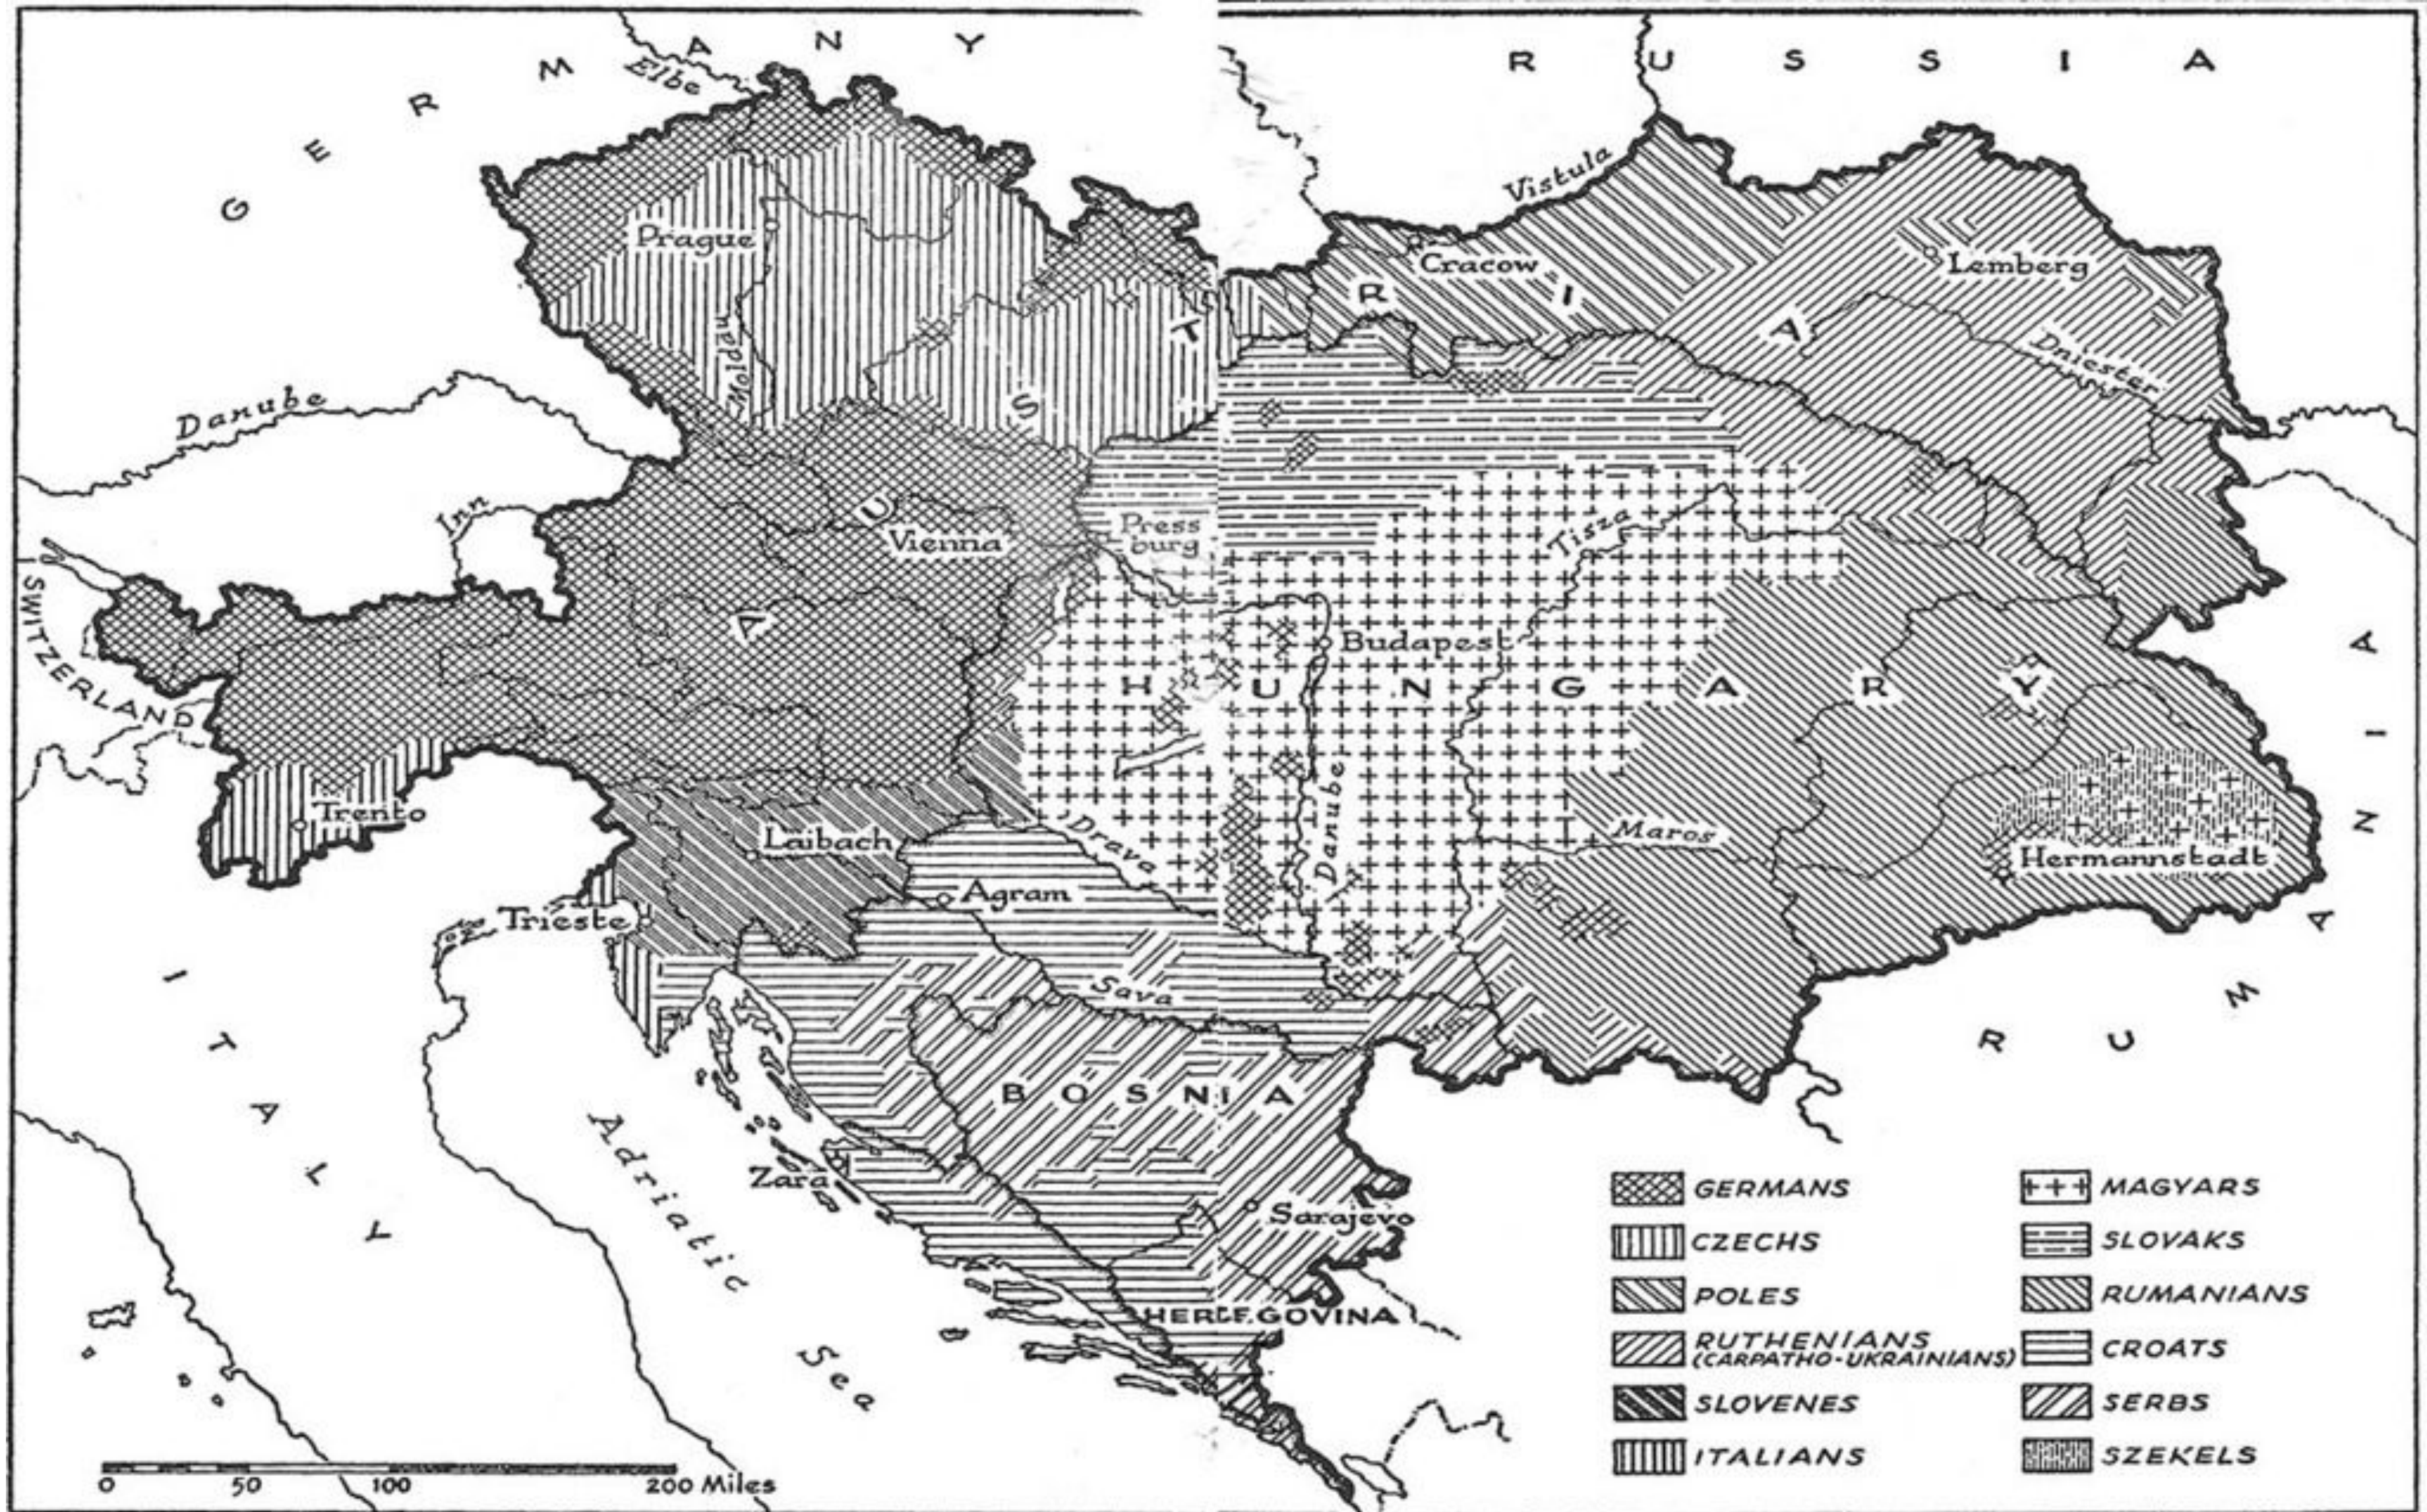

- Main centers of revolutionary outbreaks
- Abdication of a monarch
- Main reactionary troop movements
- Nationality conflicts in revolting states
- Boundary of German Confederation
- German small states

- 1 Outbreak of the revolution in Palermo (12. 1. 1848) / Parliament in Palermo decl. indep. of Sicily (25. 3.) / Suppressed by Neapolitan troops (15. 5. 1849)
- 2 Outbreak of the revolution in Paris (22. 2. 1848) / Abd. of King Louis-Philippe I (25. 2.) / Procl. of the republic (26. 2.) / Election of Louis Napoleon (10. 12.)

- 17 Pope Pius IX flees Rome (24. 11. 1848) / Decl. of Roman republic (9. 2. 1849) / Suppressed by French and Spanish troops (6. 1849)

European Revolutions

- Austrian Empire deals with at least 7 different uprisings
 - Some minor successes, but ultimately Austria reasserts its control
- Italian states unify against the Habsburgs, but ultimately are overthrown by Austrian and French forces
 - Protect the pope from the rebels
- Prussia unified after student led rebellions are successful
 - Frederick William IV is named ruler of Prussia
 - Some want him to be king of a unified Germany, but he rejects that idea

EUROPE IN 1812

- French Empire in 1804
- French territorial acquisitions after 1804
- States dependent on Napoleon
- France and its allies before Napoleon's Russian Campaign in 1812
- Confederation of the Rhine in 1812
- Continental system since 1806/1807

German Confederation

- Planned by Klemens von Metternich
- Weak alliance led by Austria
- Supports conservatives

Otto von Bismarck (r as PM 1862)

Kaiser Wilhelm I (r as KoP 1861)

Otto von Bismarck

- Prussian Junker
 - Conservative landowning noble
 - Named Prime Minister of Prussia in 1862
 - Had been ambassador to the German Confederation in 1850s
- Delivers the “blood and iron” speech in 1862
 - Popular with commoners
- Master of realpolitik
 - Politics based on need not principle
- Unify German states to benefit Prussia not for unification itself
- Start by strengthening the army

Wars of Expansion

- Declares war on Denmark with the support of Austria and gains land (1866)
 - Later betrays Austria to gain even more land (1866)
 - This “war” lasts about 7 weeks
- Declares war on France in 1870 against Napoleon III
 - A Prussian prince was to be heir of Spain
 - France rejects this idea and sends a delegation to Prussia to negotiate other alternatives
 - Prussia agrees to a different heir for now, but refuses to permanently accept this deal
 - The Ems Dispatch is sent out edited by von Bismarck to incite a war and unify the Germans around the Kaiser

Germany Unified - January 1871

- Germany accepts a constitution with a two house legislature
 - Bundesrat - wealthy nobles appointed by rulers of German states
 - Reichstag - elected by universal male suffrage
 - Reichstag is the lower house and can be vetoed by upper
- William I is Emperor of new empire and von Bismarck is the Chancellor, which holds significant power (2nd Reich)

The Three Emperors

Left to Right:

1. Austria
2. Germany
3. Russia

Had met at a meeting in Skierniewice in Russian Poland with their foreign ministers to discuss alliances and the current state of European affairs. Published by a British magazine, Punch.

Germany - An Industrial Giant

German Industry

- Achieved because of the French collapse after the Franco-Prussian War
 - Markets are available for Germany to tap into
- Factors for success:
 - Ample iron and coal
 - Disciplined workforce
 - Rapid population growth
 - Single currency and unified banking system
 - Investment in industry

The Iron Chancellor - Otto von Bismarck

- Pursued several foreign policy goals
 - Keep France weak
 - Stay close to Austria and Russia
- Domestically focused on suppressing opposition
 - Attacked the Catholic Church
 - Launched the Kulturkampf
 - “Battle for Civilization”
 - Tries to attack the growing socialist movements in Germany

Pius IX: The last move was certainly unpleasant for me; but the game is not up yet. I still have a very nice move in petto (in secret).

Von Bismarck: That will be your last one, and then in a few moves you will have lost – at least for Germany.

Kaiser William II

- William II comes to power after his father's untimely death
- Soon asks Otto von Bismarck to resign
 - “There is only one master in the Reich, and that is I”
- Enacted social welfare programs and modernized many of Germany's cities
- Expanded Germany's navy drastically
 - Try to catch up to the British

“The captain is no longer needed” —>

Lesson 3 Objectives

Explain various reasons for Otto von Bismarck's popularity and influence in Prussia during the 1850s and 1860s

Assess the causes and effects of Prussia's wars of expansion

Define the Bundesrat and Reichstag and explain the relationship between the two

Explain the successes and failures of Otto von Bismarck's time as Chancellor of the new German state

Lesson 4 Objectives

Identify the figures responsible for the unification of Italy and the struggles those figures faced in achieving unification

Analyze the relationship between Italy and other European powers in their push towards unification

Italian

- After Congress of Vienna, Austria divided Italy for their own purposes
 - Klemens von Metternich
- Giuseppe Mazzini formed the Young Italy group to push for unity
 - Common heritage back to Ancient Rome

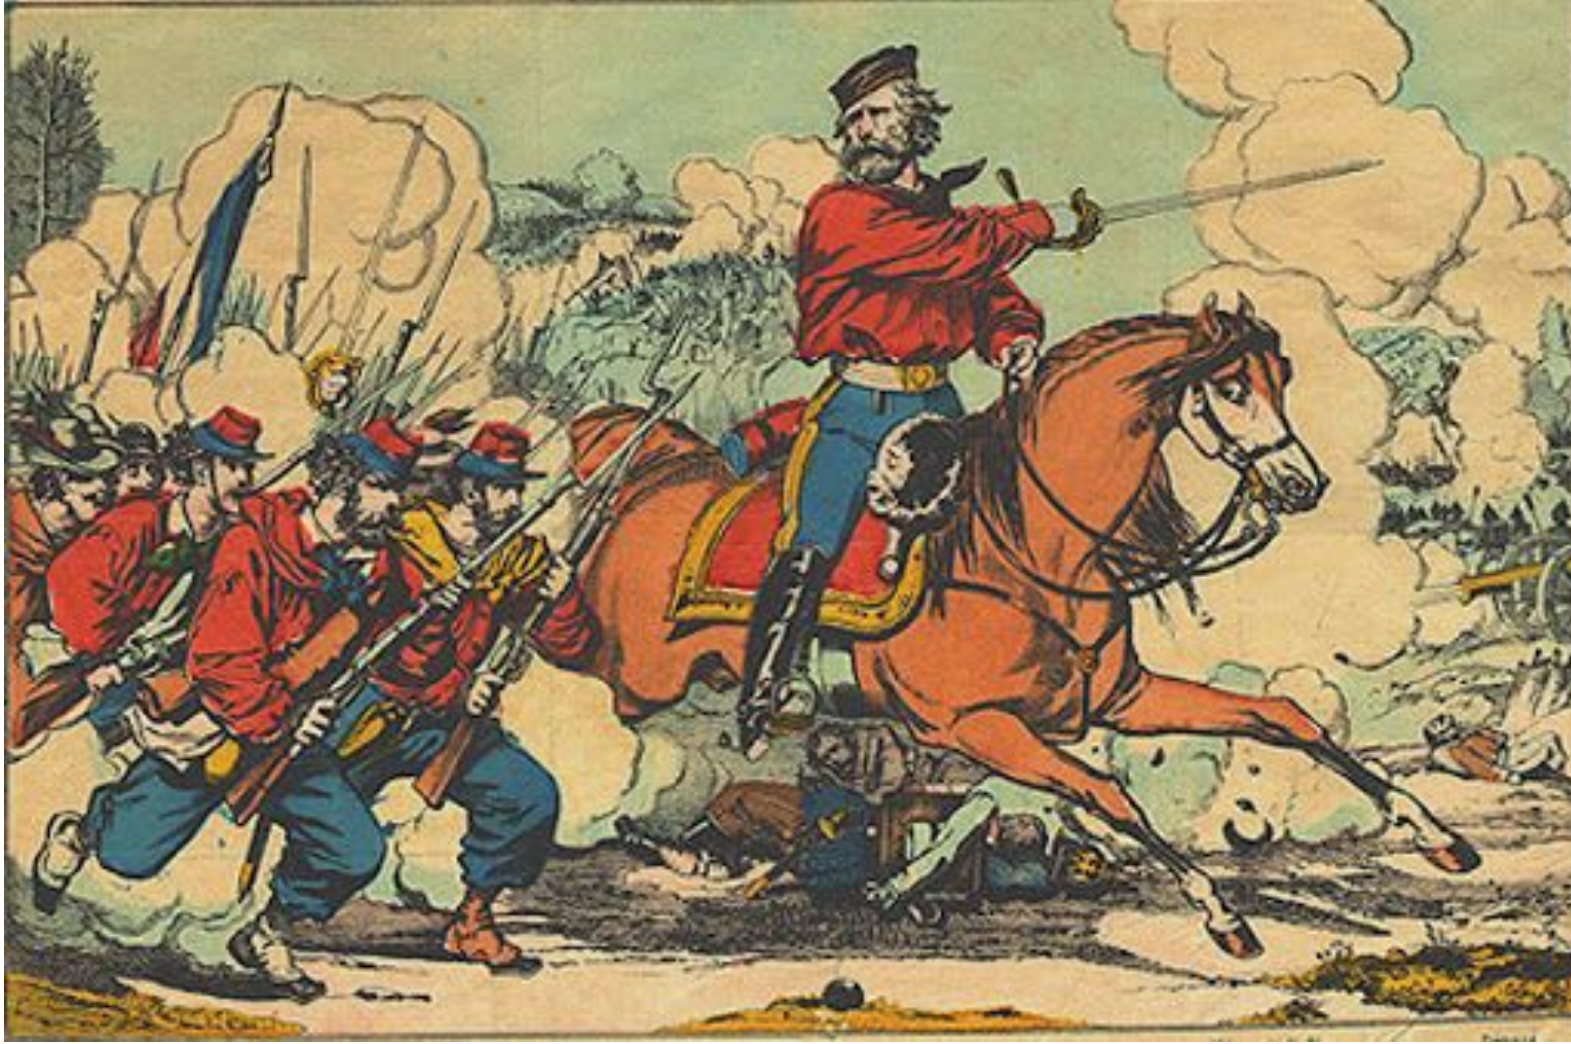

The Struggle For Italian Unification

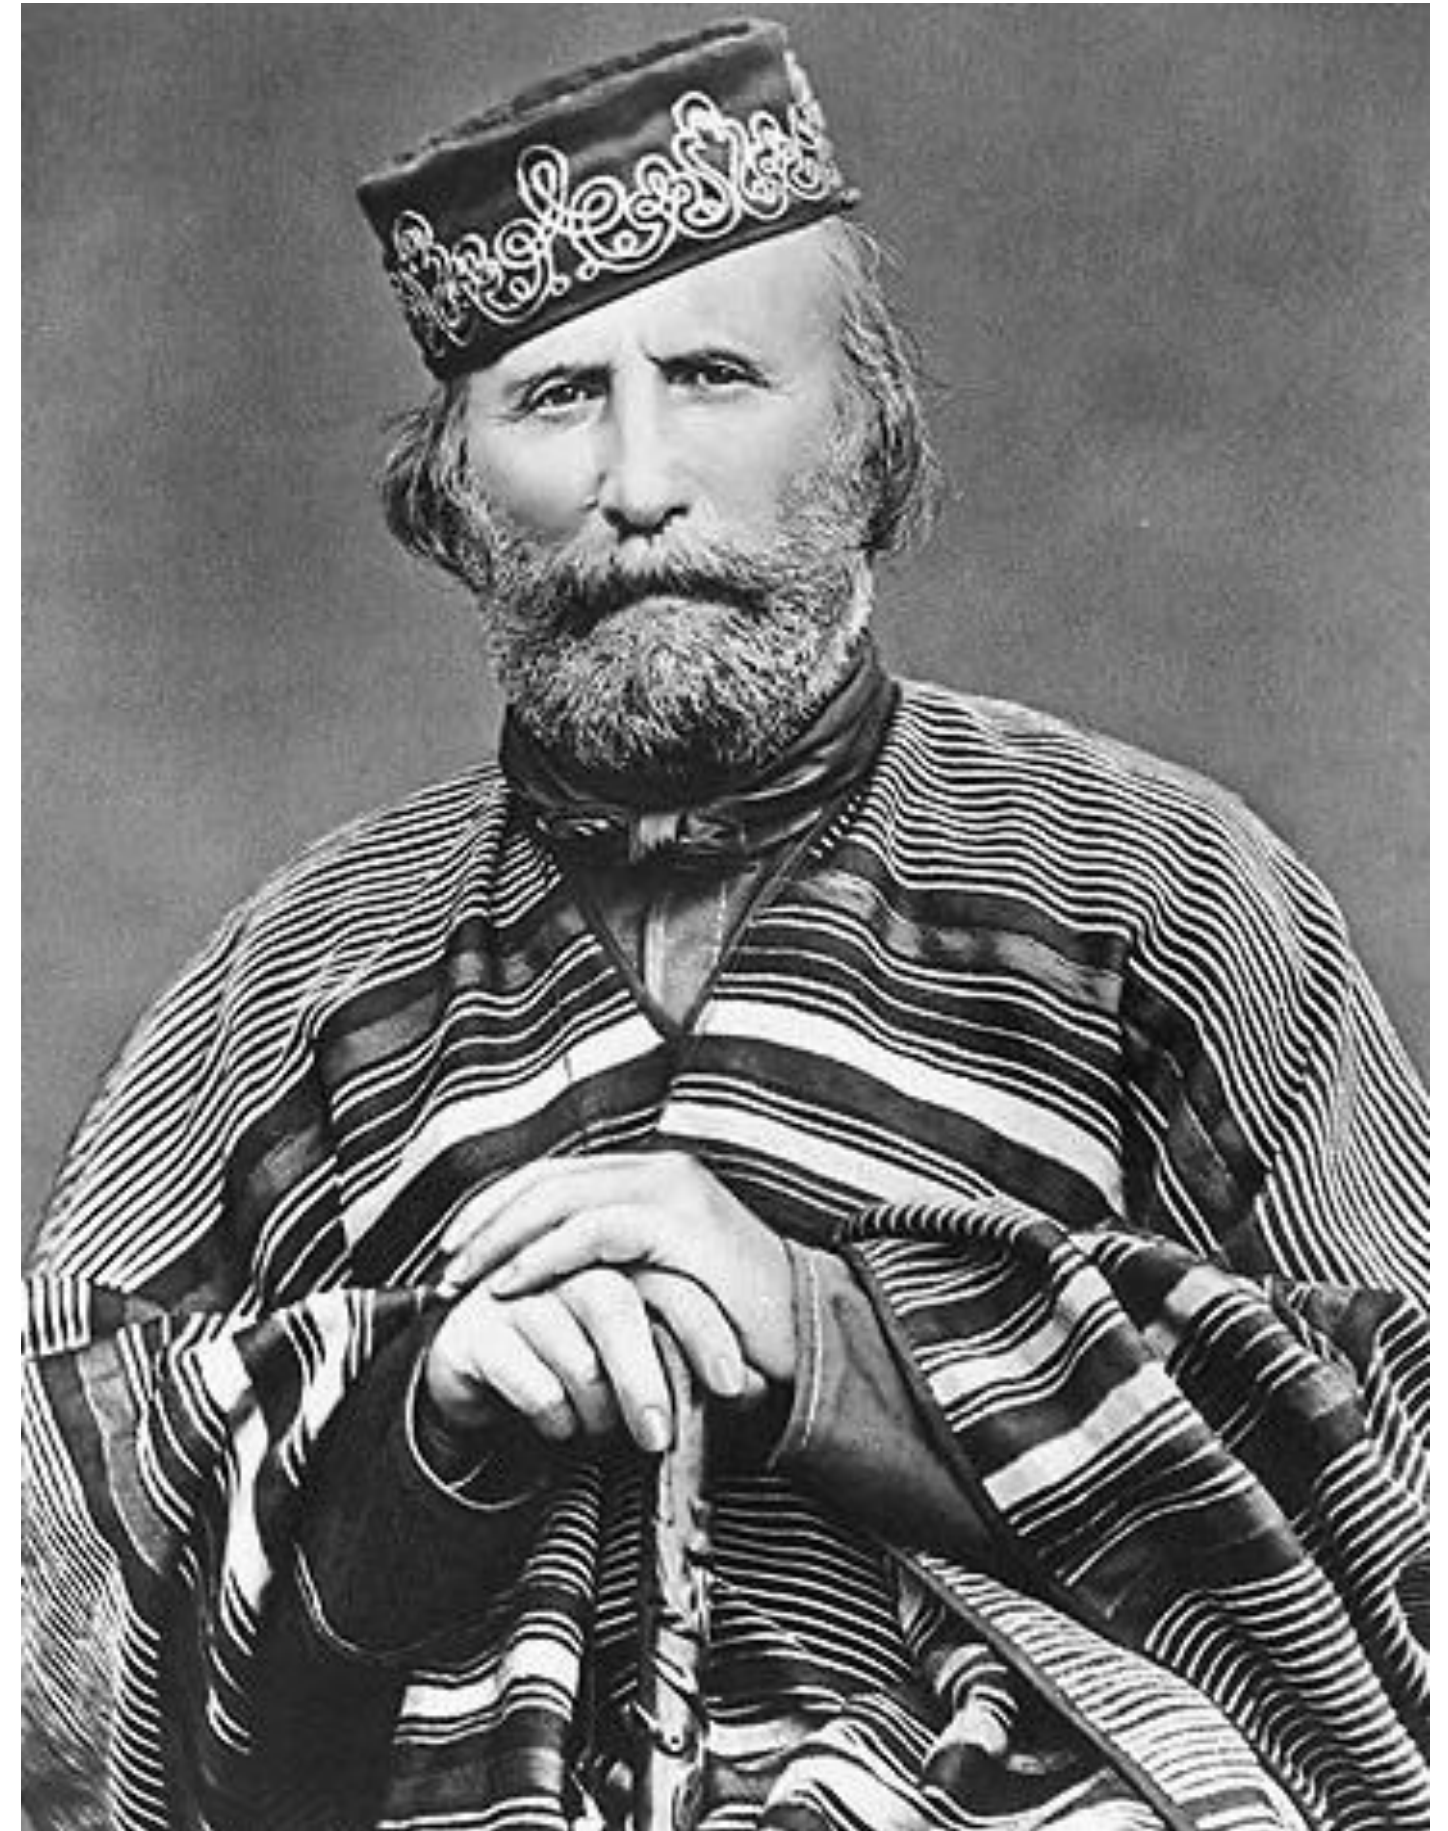

- Kingdom of Sardinia is first to speak of unity
 - King Victor Emmanuel and Prime Minister Camillo Cavour
- Cavour urges Sardinia to join the Crimean War against Russia
 - Ally with Britain and France

The Struggle for Italian Unification

- At peace talks, Napoleon III creates alliance with Sardinia against the Austrians
 - Supports Sardinia in small battles against Austria
- Kingdom of the Two Sicilies (Kingdom of Naples and Sicily) led by Giuseppe Garibaldi begin plotting to unify with Sardinia
 - Overthrows his own king

NORTH AFRICA

1837_{CE}

Struggles for the New Empire

- King Victor Emmanuel II of Italy
 - March 1861 - Italy becomes a unified state
- Heritage - Different languages and cultures
- Conflict with the Papal States and the Church
- Political Turmoil with the rise of Socialism
- Industrialization leads to same consequences as Britain
 - Mass Emigration to North America

Lesson 5 Objectives

Explain the ways in which England was a country with “Two Separate Nations” and identify how the Parliament attempted to solve these problems in the Victorian Era

Explain ways in which the working classes of England gained more rights during the Victorian Age

Identify the major tensions that existed between Ireland and England throughout the 1800s into the 1900s

Democratic Reforms in Britain and France

"It is a community of purpose that constitutes society," continued the younger stranger; "without that, men may be drawn into contiguity, but they still continue virtually isolated."

"And is that their condition in cities?"

"It is their condition everywhere; but in cities that condition is aggravated. A density of population implies a severer struggle for existence, and a consequent repulsion of elements brought into too close contact. In great cities men are brought together by the desire of gain. They are not in a state of co-operation, but of isolation, as to the making of fortunes; and for all the rest they are careless of neighbours. Christianity teaches us to love our neighbour as ourself; modern society acknowledges no neighbour."

"Well, we live in strange times," said Egremont, struck by the observation of his companion, and relieving a perplexed spirit by an ordinary exclamation, which often denotes that the mind is more stirring than it cares to acknowledge, or at the moment is capable to express.

"When the infant begins to walk, it also thinks that it lives in strange times," said his companion.

"Your inference?" asked Egremont.

"That society, still in its infancy, is beginning to feel its way."

"This is a new reign," said Egremont, "perhaps it is a new era."

"I think so," said the younger stranger.

"I hope so," said the elder one.

"Well, society may be in its infancy," said Egremont slightly smiling; "but, say what you like, our Queen reigns over the greatest nation that ever existed."

"Which nation?" asked the younger stranger, "for she reigns over two."

The stranger paused; Egremont was silent, but looked inquiringly.

"Yes," resumed the younger stranger after a moment's interval. "Two nations; between whom there is no intercourse and no sympathy; who are as ignorant of each other's habits, thoughts, and feelings, as if they were dwellers in different zones, or inhabitants of different planets; who are formed by a different breeding, are fed by a different food, are ordered by different manners, and are not governed by the same laws."

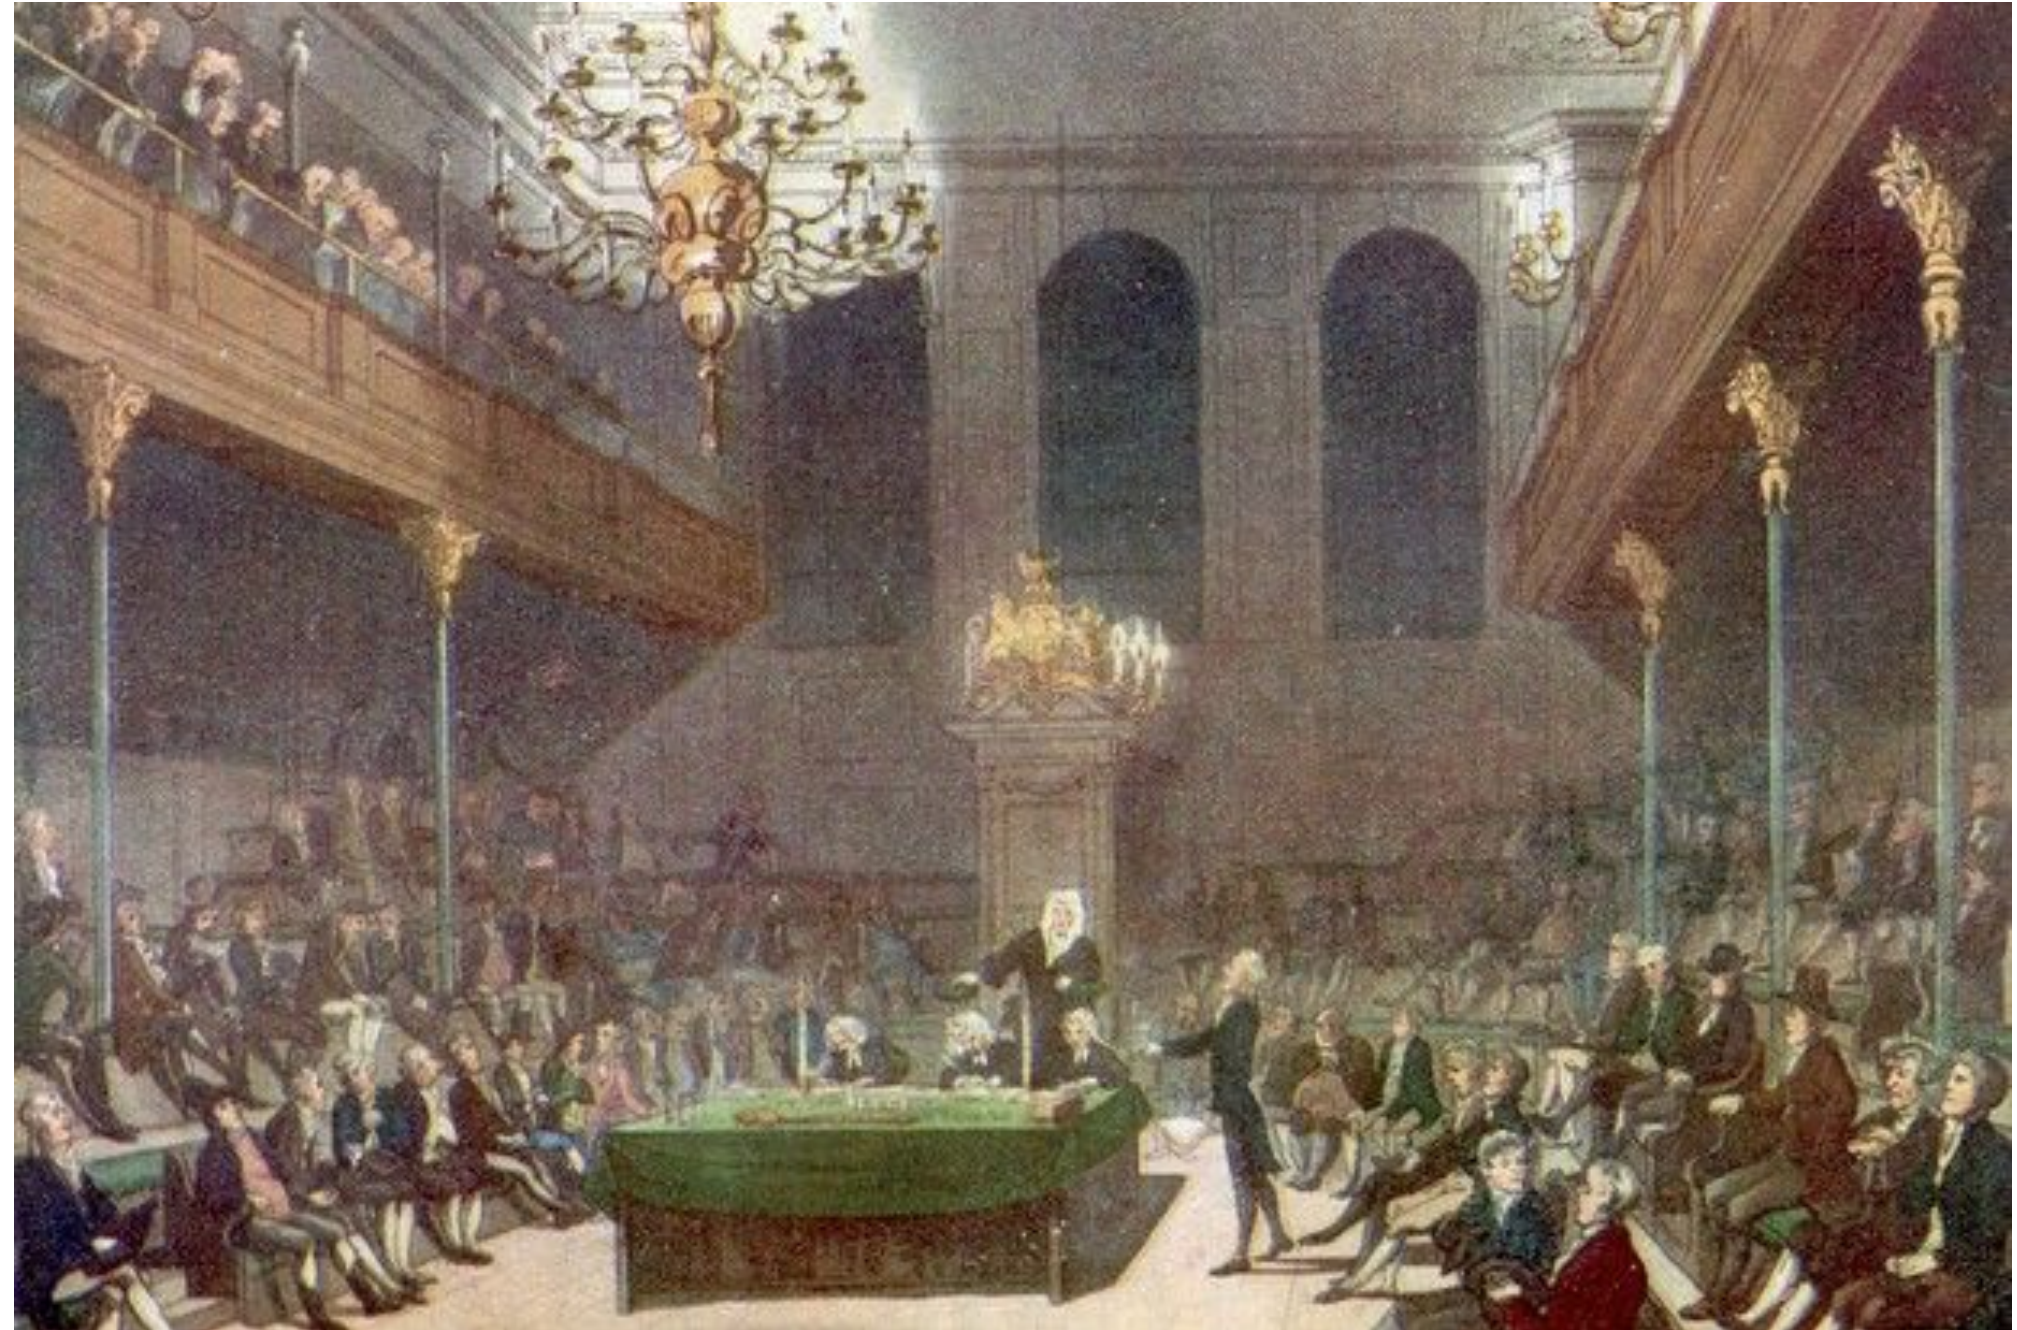

"You speak of ..." said Egremont, hesitatingly.

"THE RICH AND THE POOR."

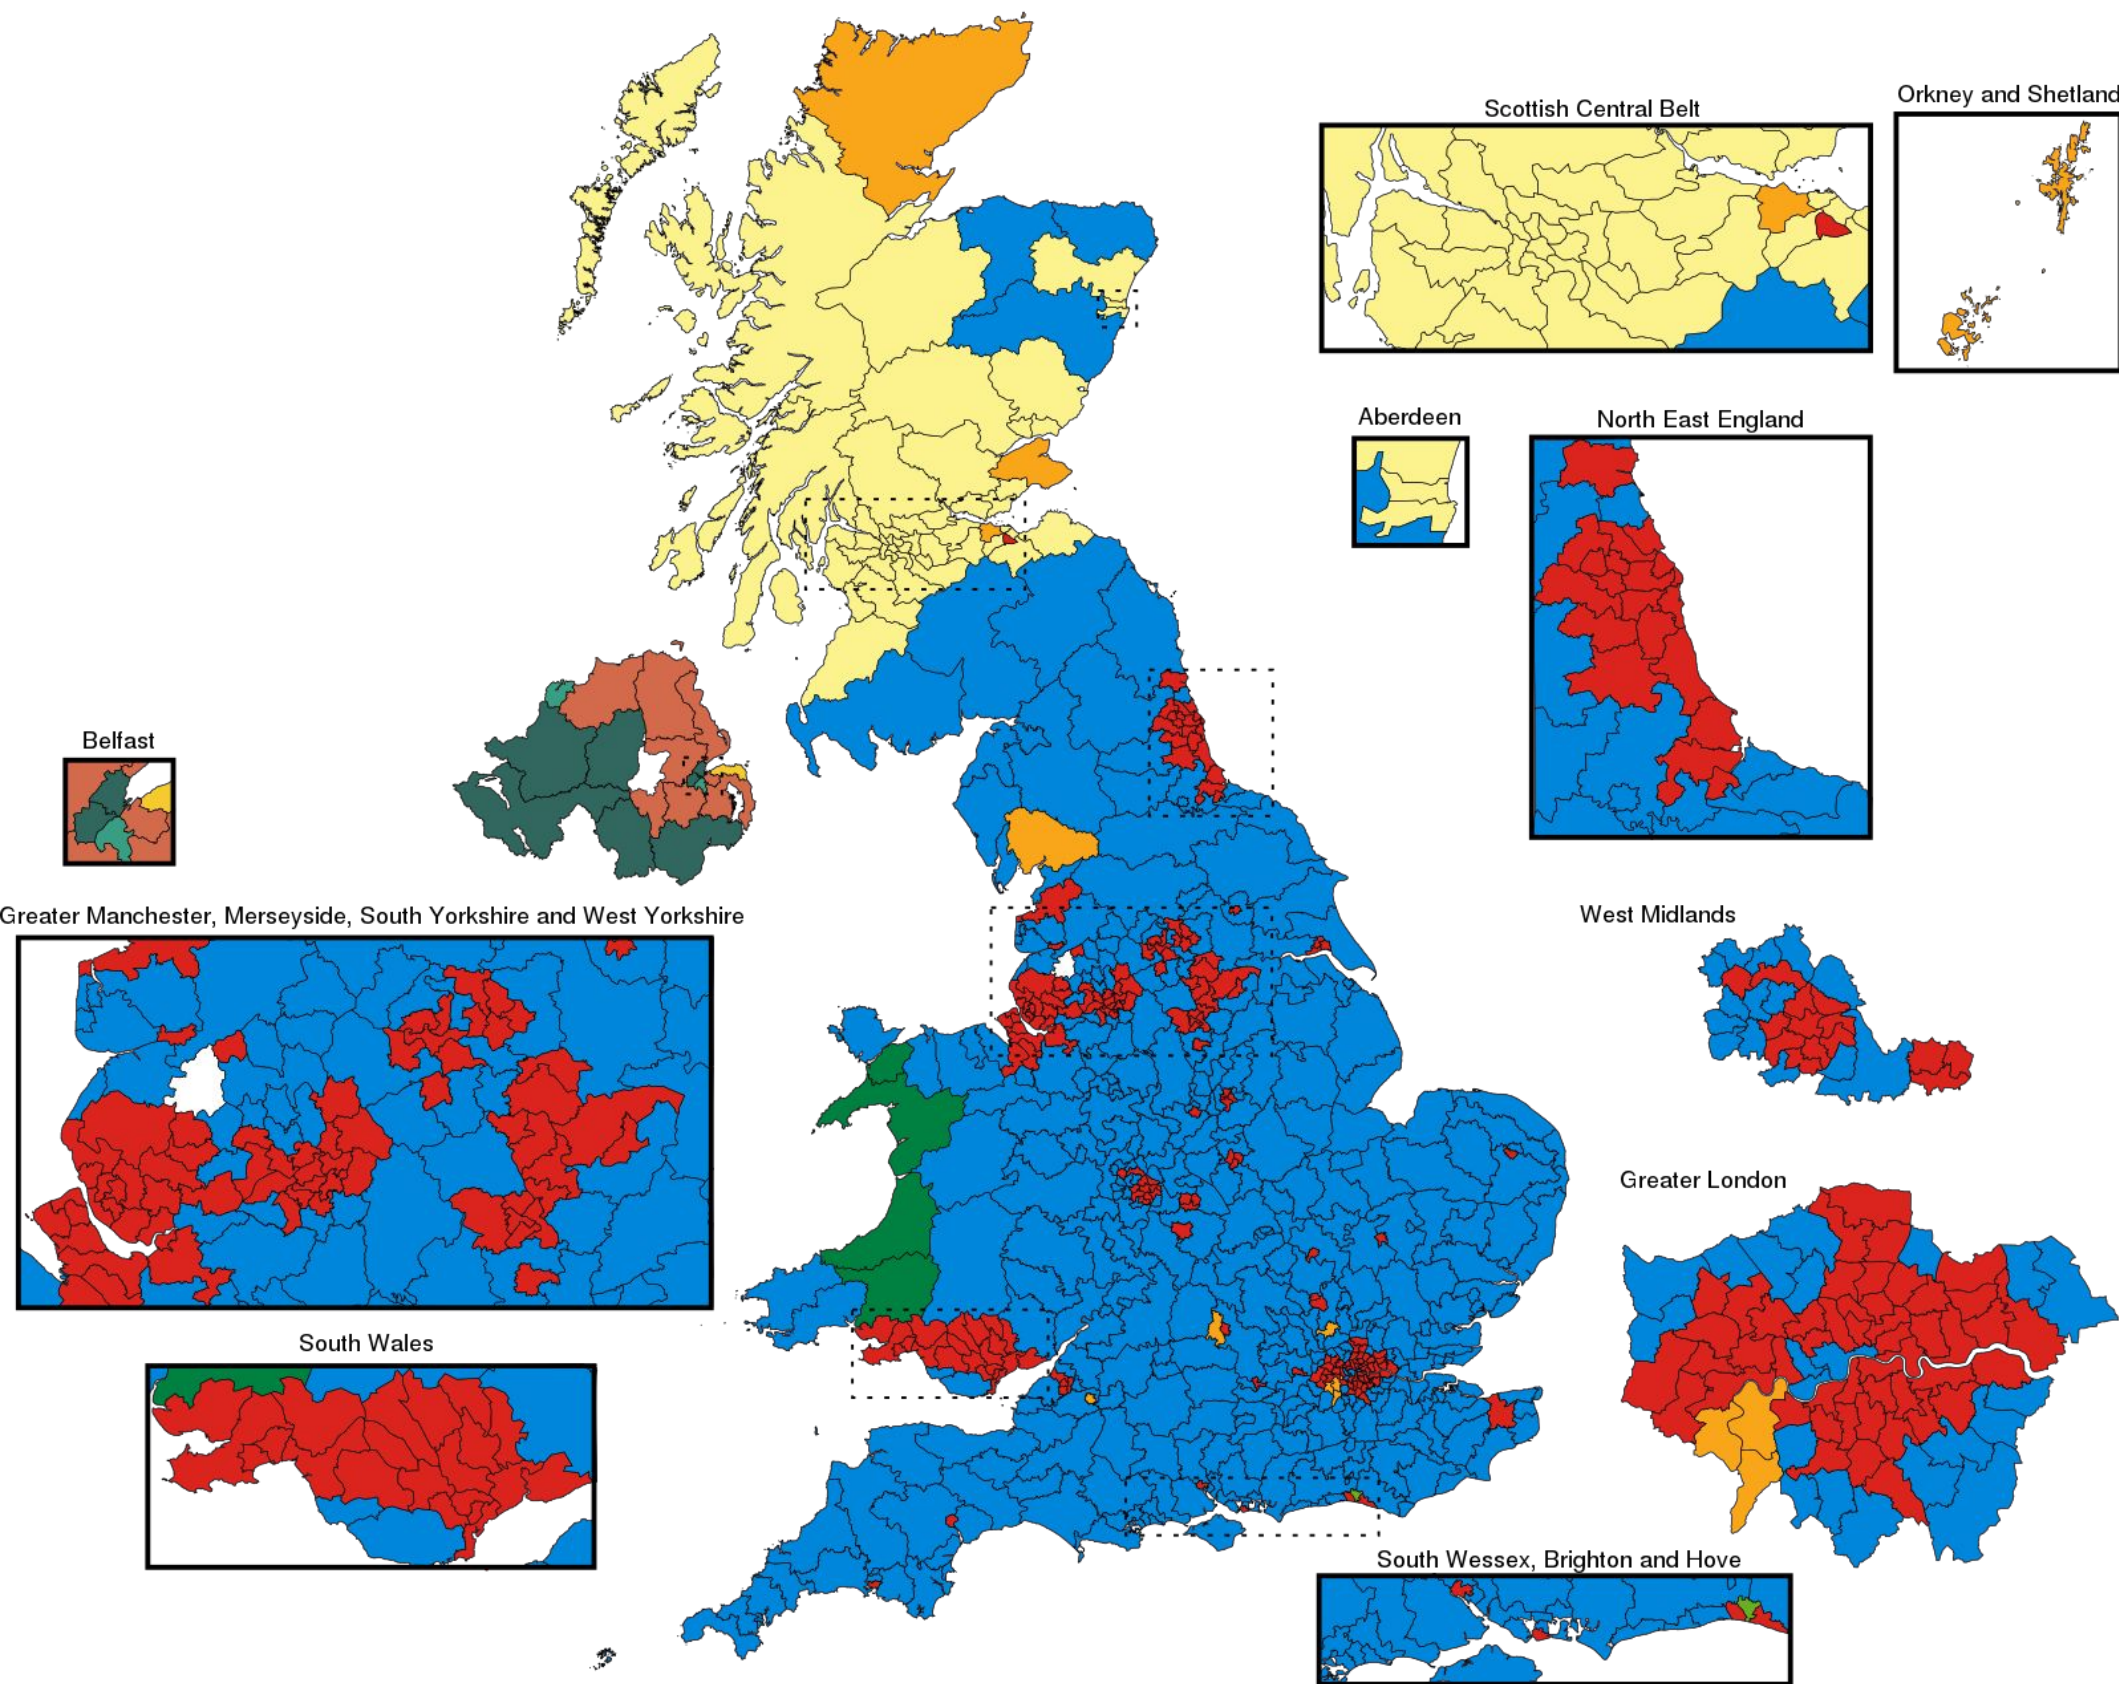

Sybil by Benjamin Disraeli

Britain's "Two Separate Nations"

- House of Lords vs. House of Commons
 - Veto power
 - Conservatives vs Liberals
- Representation in Parliament
 - Rotten Boroughs - few or no voters
 - Under or Non-Represented Cities
- Whigs (Middle Class/Industrial) vs. Tories (Nobility/Agriculture)

Britain's "Two Separate Nations"

- Reform Act of 1832

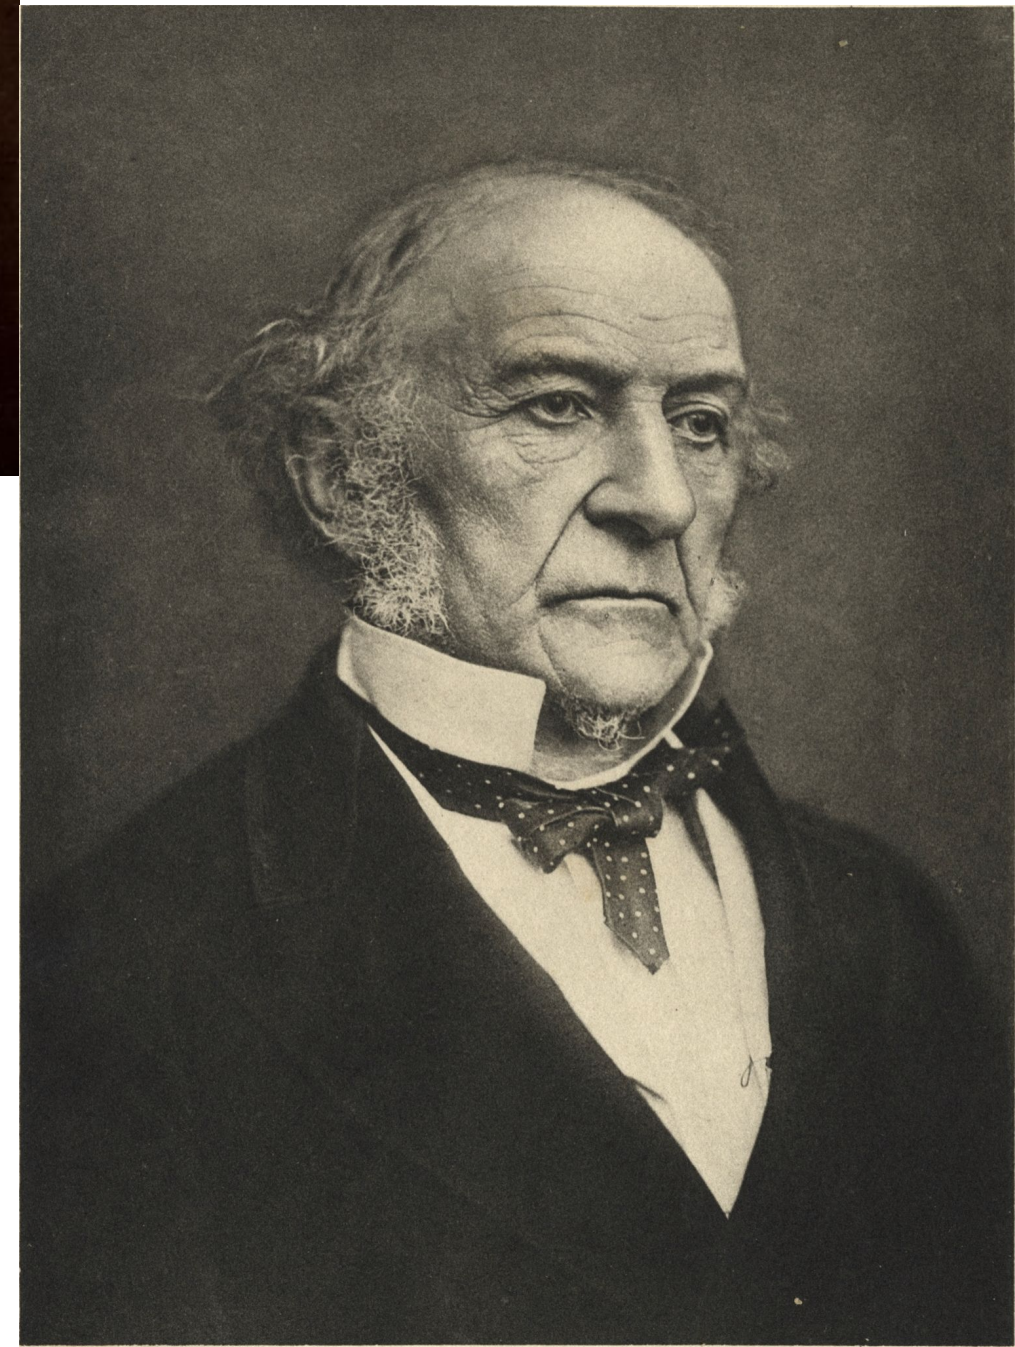

- Enlarge the Electorate
- Change Parliament's representative allotment

- Chartist Movement

- More representation and suffrage
 - Designed to help the working classes
- Secret ballot for Members of Parliament (MPs)

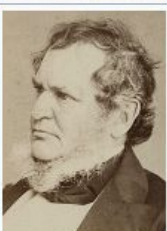

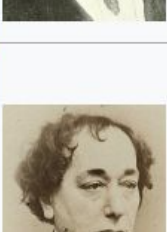

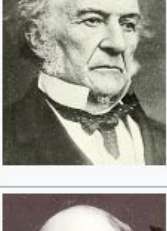

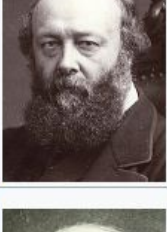

The Victorian Age

- Named after Queen Victoria (r. 1837-1901)
 - Victorian Ideals take hold
 - Hard work, thrift, duty, honesty, loyalty
- As the empire expands, so do British hopes for the future
- Shifting political parties
 - Benjamin Disraeli and the Modern Conservatives
 - William Gladstone and the Liberal Party

The Modern Parliament

- Conservatives and Liberals alternate being Prime Minister and each has unique goals, but common ideas
 - Expanded Male Suffrage
 - Inclusion of the Secret Ballot
 - Women will not vote until 1918 after violent/aggressive strikes
- Parliamentary Democracy
 - House of Lords will lose power to the House of Commons during liberal rule (1911)
 - Constant threat of vetoing laws frustrated Commons

Economic and Social Reforms

- Free Trade is being heavily pushed for, but land-owners and farm workers are strongly opposed to it
 - Land-Owners heavily support Corn Laws
 - Tariffs on imported agricultural products
- Crop failures leads to repeal of Corn Laws
 - Tariffs on foreign grain to keep the price of British grain high
- Issue of slavery comes up as people push for social reform
 - Slave trade ends in 1807
 - Slavery is abolished in 1833
- Capital offenses are reduced to prison sentences and working in penal colonies

Working Class Victories

- Government allows expansion of labor unions
 - Working conditions continually improve and citizens are making more money
- Labour Party emerges in 1900
 - Push for legislation that mirrors von Bismarck in Germany

Issues with Ireland

- Absentee Landlords
 - Own land and collect rent in Ireland, but live in England
- Tithes to the Church of England
 - Irish are predominantly Catholic
- Daniel O'Connell and Irish Nationalism and Catholic Emancipation
- The Great Hunger sparks radical ideas (Fenians)
 - Moderates want "Home Rule" or local self-government
- Ireland will gain full independence in 1921

Lesson 5 Objectives

Explain the ways in which England was a country with “Two Separate Nations” and identify how the Parliament attempted to solve these problems in the Victorian Era

Explain ways in which the working classes of England gained more rights during the Victorian Age

- Struggles with foreign affairs
 - Attempts to use Mexico as a satellite state, which backfires
 - Helps Italian Nationalists
 - Wins the Crimean War
 - Huge cost, little gain

Napoleon III and the 2nd Republic

- Loses the Franco-Prussian war after a 4 month siege of Paris (1870)
 - Napoleon III is defeated and deposed
 - Harsh surrender terms that leave France humiliated and with a new National Assembly (The 3rd Republic)

à Paris chez Bès et Dubreuil, Imp. Edit. Quai des G^{ds} Augustins, 17.

Déposé.

The 3rd Republic

- Paris Commune in 1871
 - Rebellion designed to combat the “royalists” who acquiesced to the Prussians
 - Led by socialists and radicals
- Civil war rages throughout Paris after the commune refuses to disband
 - 10k-20k dead, 38k arrested, 7k deported

The 3rd Republic

- Republic had two house legislature, a president (figure-head), and a strong premier (Prime Minister)
 - To govern, French political parties had to form coalitions or alliances amongst the parties
- Bring stability and economic progress to France

The Dreyfus Affair

- Alfred Dreyfus was a French Jew who was convicted of treason (1894)
 - First Jew to reach a high position in France's military
- Dreyfus Affair scarred French politics and society because it created massive rifts
 - Supporters of Dreyfus eventually force the military to release their evidence, which is almost entirely forged
 - Later exonerated and commended
- Leads to a Zionist movement
 - Jewish state in the ancestral homeland
 - Led by Theodor Herzl - Hungarian Jew living in France

Lesson 6 Objectives

Assess the successes and failures of Napoleon III as Emperor of France

Explain the causes of the Paris Commune and what the result of that uprising was

Describe the Dreyfus Affair and the resulting Zionist
Movement that emerges from it

Lesson 7 Objectives

Identify the struggles that Austria has throughout the 1800s and how those struggles lead to broad change in their government and empire

Describe the Balkan Wars and their impacts on European relations and tensions

Describe Russia's attempts at reforming

Explain the impacts of the Russo-Japanese War on Russian society and politics

Nationalism in Eastern Europe and Russia

Nationalism Endangers Old Empires

- Habsburgs are oldest ruling house in Europe
 - Oversee various nationalities and cultures
 - Fewer ¼ of the entire empire is German-speaking Austrian
- Emperor Francis I and Klemens von Metternich had maintained the old order through strict control
 - Industrialization brings same problems the rest of Europe dealt with

Nationalism Endangers Old Regimes

- 18yo Francis Joseph (Franz Joseph) becomes new Austrian King (1848-1916)
- Attacked by French and Italians in Italy's push for unification
 - Consolidates his power by issuing a new constitution
 - Power in the hands of German-speaking Austrians

The Dual Monarchy

- Austria's defeat to Prussia (1866) sparks Hungarian demands for change
- Ferenc Deak creates the idea of the Dual Monarchy of Austria-Hungary
 - Separate states, but Francis Joseph will be emperor and king
- Nationalists believe this isn't enough and seek independent statehood

Ottoman Empire Declines

- Treated as the “sick man of Europe” by other European nations
 - Pushing to gain lands throughout the Ottoman Empire
- Balkan Wars (1912-1913) create a “powder keg” for World War I
 - Alliances mean nothing long-term
 - Nationalism is the main concern
 - All involved have ulterior motives

Russian Attempts at Reform

Russian Attempts at Reform

- Russian Hierarchy made modernization difficult
 - Landowners had total control over territory and middle class was weak and small
- Serfdom still existed and serfs were poor
- Tsars ruled as absolute monarchs

Alexander II of Russia

Emancipation and the Beginning of Revolution

- Tsar Alexander II comes to power during Crimean War
 - Losing this war showed Russia has issues
- Alexander II emancipates all serfs and sparks reforms
 - Local elected assemblies called zemstvos for self-government
- Alexander II is assassinated and his son Alexander III cracks down on socialists and Jews throughout Russia
 - Encourages pogroms or violent mob attacks

Alexander III of Russia and Nicholas
II of Russia

Lead Russia into Industrialization

Russia –Japan War

Road to Revolution

- Russo-Japanese War led by Nicholas II caused issues at home
 - Defeats led to protests on St. Petersburg
- Peaceful Protests lead to military inflicted killings
 - Bloody Sunday
- More protests are sparked as result and Nicholas II is forced to sign October Manifesto and create a Duma - elected national legislature
 - Short lived after they criticize him
 - Nicholas hand selects Peter Stolypin to be his Prime Minister and crack down on citizens

Lesson 7 Objectives

Identify the struggles that Austria has throughout the 1800s and how those struggles lead to broad change in their government and empire

Describe the Balkan Wars and their impacts on European relations and tensions

Describe Russia's attempts at reforming

Explain the impacts of the Russo-Japanese War on Russian society and politics
